Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 11-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to the invention. The specification is not adequately enabling for the scope of the compounds claimed. The only useful compounds are those in pages 22-29 of the specification. This does not give a reasonable assurance that all, or substantially all of the compounds that could be made and are useful. The claims are not drawn in terms of a recognized genus but are directed to a more or less artificial selection of compounds.

There is no reason why a claim drawn in this way should not be limited to those compounds which are shown to be useful. An Applicant is not entitled to a claim for a large group of compounds merely on the basis of a showing that a selected few are useful and a general suggestion of a similar utility in the others.

There is no statement of utility beyond that for caprolactam. Ex parte Lanham, 108 USPQ at 135 states "It was never intended that a patent be granted upon a product, or a process producing a product, unless such product be useful." Therefore, the claims should be limited to a process for making useful compounds of formula 1.
